

Educational Philosophy

The philosophy of the School District of Johnson Creek is based on the belief in the right of every student to develop his/her talents, abilities, and character to the fullest possible extent. It recognizes that a student is different from every other student and that we have a responsibility to the individual as well as to the group. Our basic beliefs dictate that we provide the best education possible for each student, and that every student has a right to equal educational opportunities but that all will not benefit equally from the same education. However, each student should be given the opportunity to prepare for his/her future in a continually changing society.

It is the duty of the school to provide a broad academic and vocational curriculum with co-curricular and extra-curricular activities designed to meet the various abilities and interests of the students.

This philosophy is to be continuously stressed in all phases of the school program.
